

SARDI Best All Rounder Prize

The Prize has been established by a donation to the University by the South Australian Research & Development Institute (SARDI) who is keen to support graduates from the Bachelor of Food and Nutrition Science (BFNS) program of the University of Adelaide.

SARDI is the principal research institute of the Government of South Australia, with a network of research centres, laboratories and field sites both in metropolitan Adelaide and throughout South Australia. SARDI is part of Primary Industries and Regions SA.

Prize recipients

Year	Winner
2020	Jessica Lucy Mickan
2019	Scott Jeffery Boller

Prize rule

Value

The value of the Prize will be $500.00 per year for 3 years until otherwise determined by the University after discussions with the donor.

Eligibility

The Prize is awarded by the University annually and on the following eligibility criteria:-

- to students who have completed the BFNS Program at the University of Adelaide.

Candidate Selection

The Program Management Committee (consisting of the Program Coordinator - BFNS Program (Chair); at least 2 BFNS Course Coordinators; Deputy Head, Learning & Teaching at Waite and the Faculty's Senior Academic Support Officer) will award the prize to the graduating student from the BFNS Program whose academic merit, personal qualities, enthusiasm and aptitude indicate the promise of an outstanding contribution to the food and nutrition industry.

If there is no candidate of sufficient merit in any given year then the Prize will not be awarded in that year.

Variations

The University may vary the rules from time to time in a manner consistent with the University's legal obligations and policies.

Last Updated 5/10/2021